

Adesubomi Agoro. MD,CPE,CHCQM,FACP,FCCP.
Medical Director at Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Illinois, Montana, New Mexico, Oklahoma & Texas

I am a certified physician executive having received credentialing through the American association of physician leadership. This certification is a benchmark for CEO'S and physician executive recruiters in seeking the most accomplished and influential leaders.

Furthermore, this along with my current enrollment at University of Massachusetts Amherst for my healthcare MBA is part of my ongoing commitment to improving the quality of care for my patients. This will complement my clinical functions as a board certified Pulmonologist/ Intensivist/Sleep Specialist in Fort Worth, Texas where I have been practicing for the past 20 years.

Since living in Fort Worth, I have actively involved myself in the medical community, serving on various hospital boards, providing physician leadership roles, mentoring and helping those around me recognize the role of physicians in providing the healthcare industry with leadership skills. In addition to this role, recognizing the importance of preventative care in medicine encouraged me to pursue training and certification in obesity medicine to further my leadership skills.

I recognize the importance of developing leaders through education, and work as an assistant clinical professor at University of North Texas Health Science Center in Fort Worth, Texas. I take joy in helping train resident physicians at Medical City Fort Worth.